To Chaplain St. Angelo

A dedication is a gesture of acknowledgement and affection. As such, the act of dedication must reflect a heartfelt sentiment. A keen sense of humor and a warm, friendly spirit have helped to endear our chaplain to us. Therefore, we, the Senior Class, appreciatively dedicate our Spectrum to George St. Angelo.

Introduction

"Thy lofty precepts do inspire" . . . The tower of Old Main brings to the minds of each new NC-ite, the oft-sung line from the Alma Mater. When Freshmen come to North Central College, a Christian liberal arts college, twenty-eight miles west of Chicago, the hearty "Hi's" and broad grins make NC seem just like home.

From the green beanie . . . the "Big-Little-Brother-Sis" banquet . . . trials of registration . . . Woe Week, with its paddles, trips to the pond and peanut roll . . . the smell of a 'mum, a gigantic bonfire and a lovely queen making a "first" Homecoming never to be forgotten . . . to the day when our stay at NC is over, we're proud we belong to NC.

Although it is the oldest building on North Central's campus, Old Main is one of the first with which new students become acquainted. This stone edifice provides quarters for various student activities.

The bookstore and the Student Union are found in the basement. The Union is a favorite meeting, and eating place for students and pros.

Administrative offices fill the first floor. From their first week of college, students recall waiting in line to pay their bills in the business office, only to find outside the door another expense — that of an upper-classman's joy at a frosh's expense — a green beanie.

North Central's radio station, WNOC, has its studio in the south part of Old Main on the fourth floor.

Dr. C. Harve Geiger, B.A., M.A., Ph.D.

Always ready, willing, and quite able to lend a helping hand to any NC-ite is North Central's president, Dr. S. Harve Geiger.

Dr. Geiger has been our capable leader for ten years. In 1922, he received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Chicago, his Master of Arts degree from Harvard University in 1928, and his Doctor of Philosophy degree from Columbia University in 1940.

Lectures, Quizzes, Classes . . .

"Those long, weary hours in the classroom" . . . Although it's good to return to the dorm and relax before digging into that pile of homework, we remember with a smile those hours spent in the classroom.

We dozed in some classes because of late night study . . . some lectures just didn't penetrate . . . and there were classes where we knew all the answers!

At times our profs feel that we don't care about what they teach us. But, we do appreciate all that they do for us — They're great!

Mrs. Dute's Teaching of English class gathers around to glance at a magazine article. Left to right are Donna Strutz, Ben Reed, Jim Koller, Louis Erdman, Ed Cavert, Ardath Orians, and Diana Horsky, a few English majors.

John Senn and Luann Mielke chat with Religion Prof. Will after class. Comparatively new to the faculty, the prof encourages close student-faculty relationships.

Dr. Keck takes a look at his students to see how they are doing. A guiding suggestion is always welcome.

These girls are preparing to make some lucky man happy. They say, "The way to a man's heart is through his stomach."

They take things casually in speech lab, at least that's the way it looks.

"We hear, see, and think, and then we speak." Perhaps those famous words could apply to North Central's Speech Activities Board. This board is a controlling body for Theater Guild, Radio Association, and Debate; and it is composed of two members from each of these organizations. The head spokesman for the group is Ed Cavert who receives superior direction from Professor Shanower and Dr. Reddick.

Debate Team

A notebook in one hand and an index file in the other reveal any member of North Central's 1956-57 debate squad.

Ten very active students compose this year's squad under the supervision of Dr. Glenn Reddick.

Competing teams for NC's squad range from the midwestern to the southwestern schools. Our debaters entered approximately five tournaments this year.

A trip to Brookings, South Dakota, for a national tournament in April highlights and climaxes the 1956-57 season.

Back row: Prof. Reddick, B. Boldt, P. Hazel, P. Correll, J. Miller. Front row: V. Ricks, M. Bornemeier, U. Bratton, D. Silvis, J. Senn

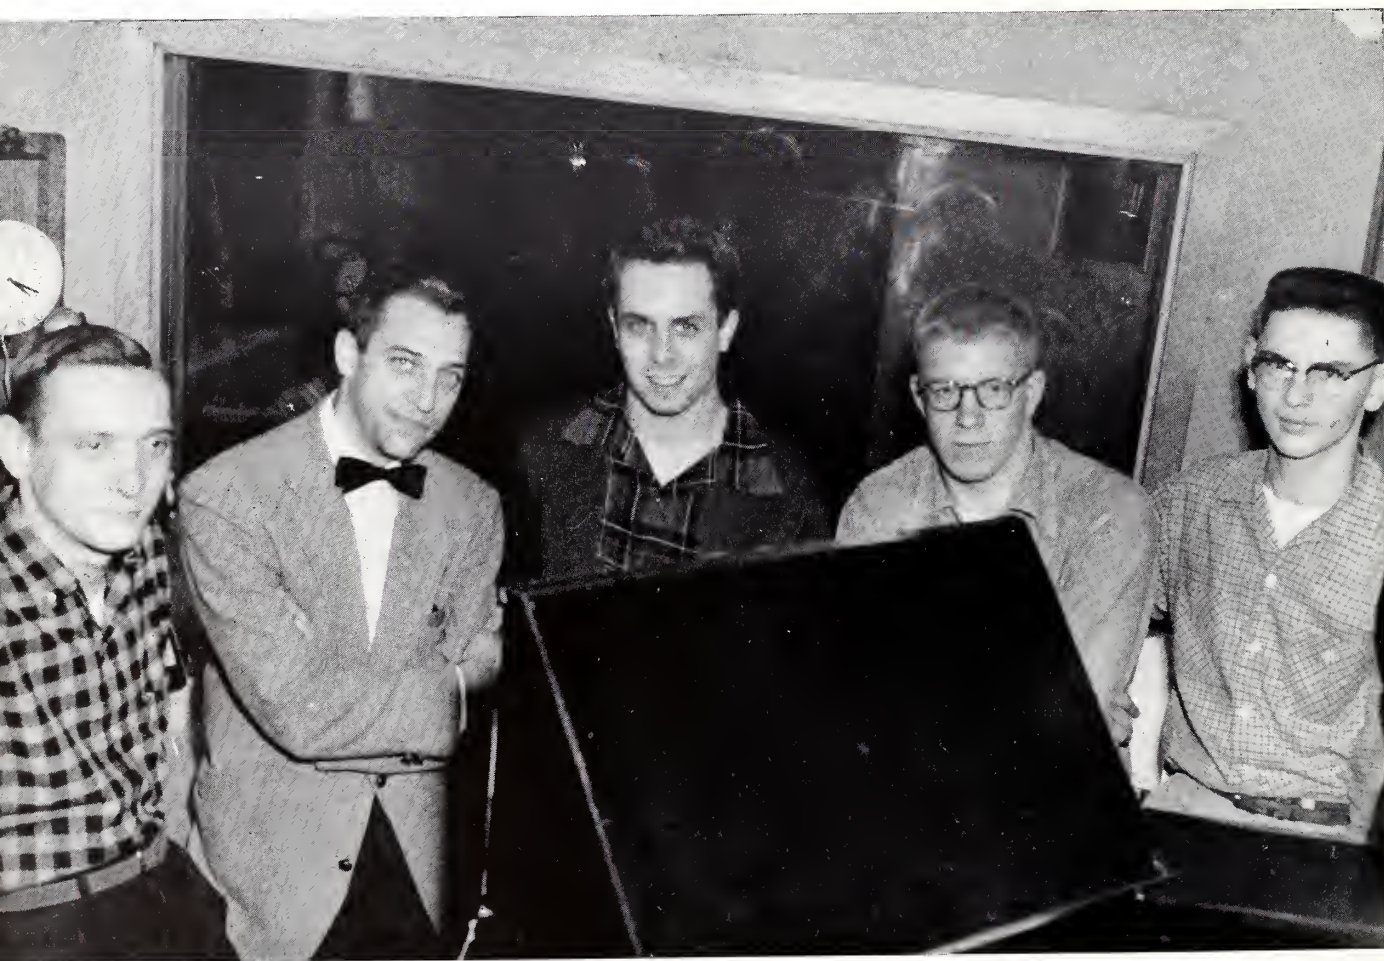

Football, basketball, swimming, current news, devotional services, disk programs, drama — all of these and many more come to you direct from North Central's radio station, WNOC. Working with the programs of this fine station is the NC Radio Club.

The Radio Club's advisor is Professor Donald Shanower, and his assistant is Ed Cavert. The program department is headed by Bud Kaatz and the engineering department by Jim Drescher, who is also the club's president. Gordon Ackerman is vice president and Gary Raetz is secretary-treasurer.

Pi Kappa Delta

First row: V. Ricks, M. Bornemeier, U. Bratton. Second row: B. Boldt, P. Hazel. Third row: Dr. Reddick, P. Correll

An honorary fraternity of North Central College which is small in quantity but large in quality is Pi Kappa Delta. This fraternity is the largest forensics honorary fraternity in the nation.

A member of Pi Kappa Delta must participate in at least five intercollegiate contests.

Alpha Psi Omega

Prof. Shanower and Louie Erdmann, sponsor and president respectively, of Alpha Psi check on billing for the next group of plays.

Alpha Psi Omega is one of North Central's most active honorary fraternities. This group is composed of students who are active in dramatics. A certain number of points, given for participation in campus theatrical productions, and a specific grade index are required for membership.

Seated: Mrs. Ledermann, Prof. McGee. Standing: Prof. Cates, Prof. Roberts, R. Hughes, D. Chamberlin, Prof. Bruhn, Prof. Thurston

Pi Gamma Mu

Promotion of further research and advanced study in the social sciences, fostering of an intelligent approach towards the solution of various social problems, and encouragement of consideration and understanding of those individuals with different opinions — these are the stated purposes of Pi Gamma Mu.

North Central's national honorary social science fraternity has as its faculty advisor, Dr. Marcus Bruhn, while Dr. N. W. McGee serves as a regional chancellor. Our chapter has as its president Dann Chamberlain and vice president Mrs. Clara Ledermann. Each member must maintain a B average and have a specific number of hours in the related academic fields.

Pi Sigma Iota recognizes outstanding ability and attainments in Romance languages and literature, stimulates advanced work in this field, and promotes good will toward nations using these languages.

Each member must write one research paper to be read to the group, the best one being sent into the national historian. Charlene Crow is president, Donald Lapp, vice-president, Kathryn Gates, secretary-treasurer, and Mrs. Luntz and Miss Nyholm are faculty sponsors.

Joyce Swafford, Nancy Viereg, and Barbara Claus, officers, and faculty advisor Madame Luntz, head the French club which furthers the use of the French language and educates in French culture.

Spanish Club encourages students in study of the language, by acquainting them with Spanish culture through talks, movies, Spanish games, and records. The president is Charlene Crow, vice-president, Don Lapp, and secretary-treasurer, Mary Wagoner. Miss Nyholm is faculty advisor.

Y. M. C. A. and Y. W. C. A.

We become acquainted with the Y before arriving as freshmen, through correspondence with our big sisters or brothers, a Y-sponsored project.

The Y's are versatile in their services. Vocationally, the Y sponsored Career Conference. Religiously, vespers, Tuesday chapels, dorm devotions, monthly chapels, and Upper Room maintenance are Y-directed. Socially, the Y's help in frosh integration through Big-Little Sis-Bro banquets and Y night, besides sponsoring all-school skating and swimming parties and hayrides. The YW Christmas party collected gifts for

Geneva Girl's School. YW's monthly news sheet, "The Y Knot," is edited by Mary Washburn. YM members saw a professional football game in Chicago. In November a mock election was held, and in January Y sponsored three discussions, "Dating and Mating."

Y members serve through weekend Chicago workcamps, Hungarian service drive, Thanksgiving food baskets, recreational periods for Geneva girls and Christmas party for Aurora's underprivileged children.

Campus Youth Fellowship

R. Berkey (Pres.), S. Whitehead (Treas.), P. Hazel (Sec.), H. Zager (V. Pres.)

Five main organizations are helping in the direction of religious life on campus. Their activities include the sponsoring of Sunday School, providing student and faculty leadership, Sunday evening fellowships, Friday morning devotional breakfasts, and "bus buzzin'" trips to Chicago. The Seager Association has broadened its scope to include women students interested in full time Christian Service. The Campus Youth Fellowship is interdenominational while the M.Y.F. and the Canterbury Club are sponsored by the Methodist and Episcopal churches respectively. The Student Volunteers are those interested in mission work.

Confusion . . . familiar voices . . . popular tunes . . . snacks . . . ping pong and T.V. The knotty pine booths, where students talk over last week's game, finish up the day's assignments, make their dates for the coming weekend, and discuss activities, policies, and ideas with other students and profs over a cup of coffee, line the walls of the snack room. The irregular rhythm of a ping pong ball tapping from paddles to the table echoes throughout Old Main and can be heard at almost anytime.

The T.V. Room becomes the main attraction at noon when the commuters eat their lunches. The T.V. set runs far into the night and most of the day, and affords a great deal of enjoyment for all.

Jim Nutt manages the Union Room with many assistants, and handles money and complaints.

Mike Fowler, John Hoffert, Dr. Schaefer, Barb Claus, Ron Bagley, Dave Studer

The Union Room's fun for food and fellowship, but there's another side, too. Here, Judy Speck cleans up in the kitchen after hours.

Students flock in for the famous Union "coffee". Here, Elaine Riha pours for Bob Gridley, Bob Goodfellow, and Chet Sherman.

Elvis and ping pong keep the Union rocking from breakfast until ten at night. Here, John Field, Elaine Riha, Jerry Rowen, and Phil Cole have a quick round between classes.

Freshmen . . . . . The Class of 1960

"So goes the life of a new Freshman." But, what is the life of a new Freshman like?

He arrives anxiously with more suitcases than he thought the family owned and moves in with his roommate, whom he discovers to be a super pal.

The "ordeal" of tests, and getting acquainted, isn't so bad at all here at NC, the friendliest campus in the Mid-West.

Then there's registration, beanies — with the familiar call of "Double button Frosh" — and the beginning of classes.

Of course, we can't forget Woe Week and all the trials of becoming an accepted freshman . . . the peanut roll for frosh gals and the frosh fellows show their strength at the Tug of War.

Before you know it, the "Big-Little Sis-Brother Banquet", an evening long to be remembered, has passed. Then our first Homecoming sneaks up, and awed freshmen chalk up another "never to be forgotten" weekend.

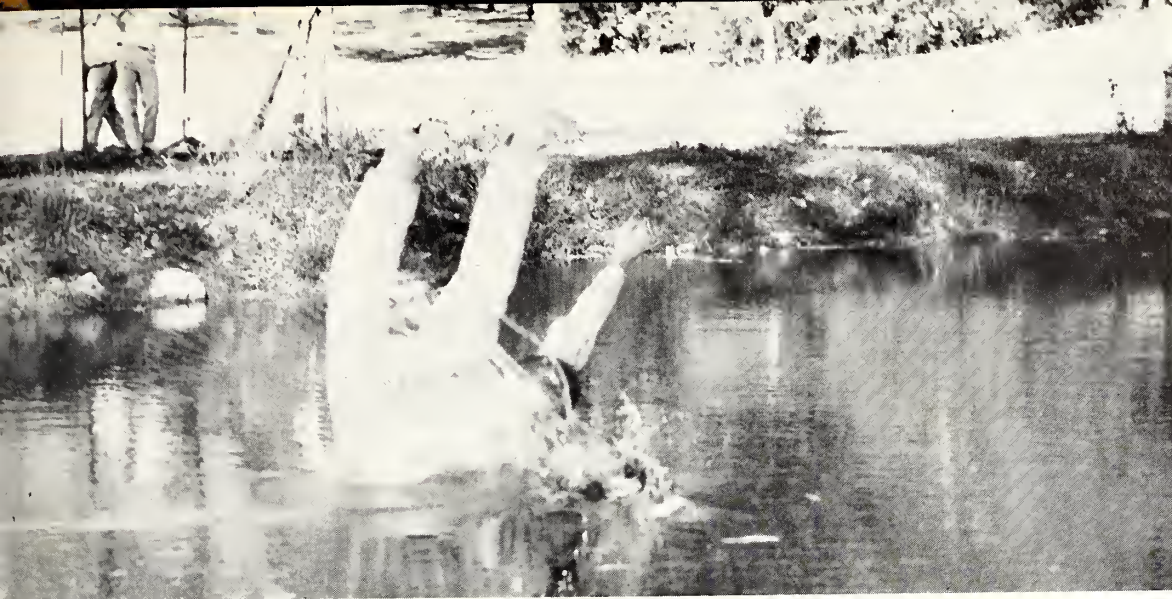

Being a freshman is really great, isn't it?

CLASS OFFICERS

Seated: K. Agne (Sec.), J. Powell (Women's Rep.). Standing: J. Miller (Treas.), H. Brown (V. Pres.), R. Heinrich (Pres.), J. Weber (Men's Rep.)

Woe Week brings about the frequent dunking of some "Freshie", the decision of a kangaroo court. It's all in fun, though.

Here, the Varsity Club members look on as the Freshman girls turn "bottoms up", and are properly initiated at the annual Peanut Roll.

The boys at the Big L'il Brother banquet eat hearty — after dinner they have to walk down to First Church for their dates.

Meanwhile, the gals pick at their food and chatter, anxiously awaiting the arrival of their dates.

Plodding up the well worn walk from the field house to Old Main, Leni Spranger and Jim Esterly pass Seager Hall.

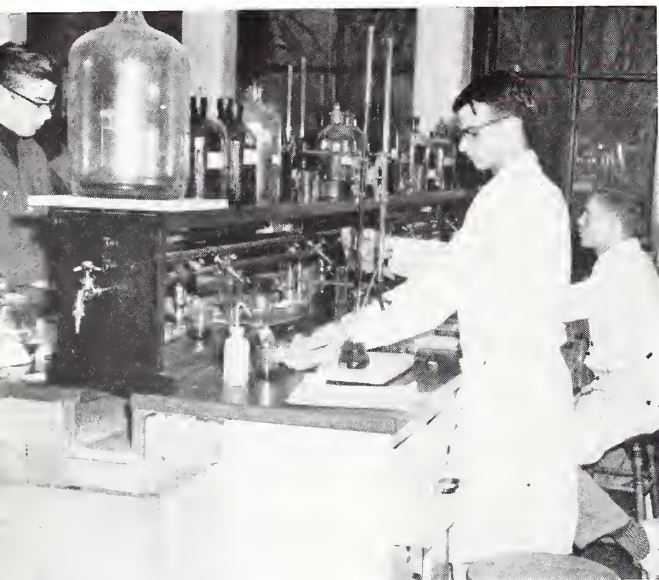

Located just north of Old Main on the main campus, Goldspohn Hall is used primarily by the departments of Chemistry, Mathematics, and Physics.

Named in honor of alumnus, Dr. Albert Goldspohn of the class of 1875, the hall contains five lecture rooms, labs, an optical room, balance room, and is also the location of the campus dark room.

Flashing (and sometimes crashing!) test tubes, scientific odors, endless number of strange charts, and occasional "explosions" provide the fitting atmosphere for North Central's chemistry club.

The formula of Professor Schap + John Hofert (president) + Paul Sutton (Secretary-treasurer) ÷ Howard Sprecher (historian) mixed with "mercurized" students, who have interest in any phase of chemistry, equals the "glass-shattering," active chemistry club.

Approximately thirty-two scientific students comprise this organization, and regular meetings are held twice a month.

Liz Blum seems to be enjoying the refreshments at the Chemistry Club Tea which is an annual affair on campus.

Tumor Research

Dr. I. C. Koten directs the tumor research in Goldspohn Hall. The current problem (Walker carcinoma in Albino rats,) is part of this unique project in undergraduate cancer research, based on world renowned theories. Earlier work concerned human cancer in guinea pigs and cortisone's effects on malignant tumors.

Participating pre-meds Dennis Wentz, Dewey Benson, and Lynne Stettbacher, also take trips to other research centers and hear scientists lecture. Dewey and Denny, future doctors, find their research interesting and also valuable experience.

Maintenance

With a roar and a flash of green arrives Jack Maier and his men all set to "fix it up." Besides raking the fall leaves, shoveling the winter snow, and moving the spring grass, these men are constantly at work cleaning and repairing the campus buildings. adjusting the heating system at the Annex, delivering new desk lamps, or nursing new grass through a late fall season. One of the extra projects this year for Jack and his staff was the remodeling of Kroehler House, turning it into a guest house with beautifully furnished lounges connecting it to the Annex. The girls returning to Kroehler Hall were pleasantly surprised to find that Maier's men had been busy during the summer painting the rooms.

The maintenance men, although always busy around campus, are never too busy to greet everyone with a friendly hello or to open doors, lock doors, or play general information agent.

Our maintenance men are always trying to keep things on the bright side.

Jim Harper, Lowell Bartel, and a few volunteers faithfully raise and lower the flag every day.

Some people think we need escalators in Old Main. What a climb!

Registration — Once again there's a chance for a new start.

Three times a day the dining hall is the busiest place on campus for hungry students.

The College and Seminary Library was erected in 1954 through the joint efforts of North Central College and Evangelical Theological Seminary. Funds donated by generous friends and alumni are used to purchase books, as recommended by department heads as well as being selected according to obvious student needs and interests.

Two well-lighted, spacious reading rooms, with books available through the open stack system, provide excellent study atmosphere for students and faculty alike.

The basement of the New Library houses the Student Council office and the offices for the various student publications: the Chronicle, the weekly newspaper; the Cardinal, the literary publication; and the Spectrum, NC's yearbook.

Reference . . . Research . . . Statistics

"Quiet Please" are the two key words in the College and Seminary Library, supervised by Miss Kraemer, Director. The library, where students do research for their classes, contains over 54,000 volumes, and takes subscriptions to 300 periodicals, to keep up to date.

Among the library's unique features is Dr. Keen's English Bible collection. A group of various fine bindings is found in the Haven Hubbard Room. Additional features are the Hi-Fi room, and the conference and typing rooms.

The library basement contains seminary classrooms, Spectrum, Chronicle, and Ad Agency offices, student council chambers, and the remedial reading room.

"To study, or not to study . . . that is the question." Ruth Unger solves it easily. Agreed it's quieter than the dorm.

Student Council

The Student Council is the body on campus which services the students by working as a channel between the administration and the student body. The council also supervises all student activities, approves constitutions of all clubs, appoints chairmen for Homecoming, College Day, and Freshmen Orientation, and hears student opinions on student body problems.

The Student Council has done an excellent job under the direction of Pres., Dennis Wentz. One of their projects for the future is to bring a couple of Hungarian students to our campus. Parents' Day is another new item on the Student Council agenda.

Campus Newspaper . . . . The Chronicle

The lights burn brightly in the basement of the library on Tuesday and Wednesday nights. Far into the night the machine-gun rhythm of a typewriter or the scratching of a pencil can be heard. It is in this place that the College Chronicle is produced by Glenn Pfeiffer, the editor, his assistant Jane Woessner and some hard-working office help.

Glenn Pfeiffer
Editor

The Chronicle tries to bring forth the big issues on campus and place them before the students. The regular features like Cal Moely's "Syncopation," Rev. St. Angelo's column, "Pressbox" by Jim Albrecht and Dale Shymkewich, "Our World Today," by Phil Correll, Ned Hawbecker's "Inside Student Council," and "Quips and Quibbles by Q" are watched for with eager anticipation each week.

The financial details are capably handled by Rogene Buchholz. Jan Hazenfield, Marcia Borneimeier and Peggy Shelton are responsible for getting the paper to the other parts of the globe.

Kay Kahl is news editor and the sports coverage is handled by Howie Mueller and Shel Trapp. The College Chronicle continues each year to cover all phases of campus life.

Alumni Hall, still known to many alumni and students as the Old Library, now houses the Biological Science department and the Art Laboratory. Here Dr. Keck's biology students dissect cats, Dr. Eigenbrodt's advanced zoology classes work with fruit flies, Prof. Himmel's botany pupils examine flower and learn anatomy, and Mrs. Duvigneau helps students improve their painting techniques.

The remodeling of this building was made possible through the financial donations of alumni with the actual work of remodeling done by the campus maintenance men.

Although the name and the purpose of the building has changed, an old tradition still remains. This is the revered custom of stepping around, not on, the big college seal in the hall entrance.

Sophomores . . . . The Class of 1959

Sophomore Slump? . . . Not with this year's soph class! Led by Jim Esterly, president, and the other officers, the class of '59 has made its contribution to the life of NC this year.

It's not every class that can boast of a Homecoming queen in its midst — but the soph class has every right to be proud of Jan Hazenfield, 1956 Homecoming Queen. Another honored soph is Mavis Erdmann, elected president of the YWCA in January.

Profitable activities of the soph class, which is already working toward next year's prom, included a couple popular booths at the All-School Carnival, and a successful Christmas dance, "Moonlight and Mistletoe."

Athletic teams are helped out by soph fellows, including leaders on the swimming, basketball, and football teams. Similarly, sophs are well represented in most other activities on campus.

Fighting their way across the roaring DuPage, a fine group of Frosh men show their muscles . . . and lost to the sophomores.

Back to tedious classes after a half hour of relaxation and inspiration.

From Barbara Pfeiffer Memorial Hall came the melodious tones of those in the school of Music. It is named in honor of the mother of Messrs. Henry and G. A. Pfeiffer who were generous contributors to the building.

Chapel on Monday and Wednesday provides for ideal inspiration from Chaplin St. Angelo. The Friday assemblies come to us in a lighter vein with everything from politics to pep rallies.

Throughout the year, band, orchestra, choir concerts, and student recitals are held for the college and community. The annual Artists' Series with artists like Brian Sullivan, Paris Ballet and Dublin players prove to be real drawing cards for the students and the community. The Junior class brought George Shearing and his quintet to the campus scene.

Musical Moments

"Music soothes the savage beast." Here in the imposing structure of Pfeiffer Hall any willing student can develop and display his musical talents to his heart's content.

The one-hundred member Festival Chorus, comprised mostly from the Chapel and Concert Choirs, presented the beautiful Christmas Vesper Service in December including Horatio Parker's "Holy Child", and Eric Thieman's "Christmas Triad." Under Dr. Luntz, Director of the School of Music, the chorus made its second appearance in the annual May Fine Arts Festival.

The Concert Choir, directed by Dr. Luntz, and the "elite" of the vocal groups, consists of approximately thirty-eight select voices. Preparing for its annual spring tour through the states of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Minnesota, the choir performed during the fall and winter at the Sunday Evening Supper Club at Orchestra Hall, in northern Illinois towns such as Aurora, Elgin, and Barrington, and in local churches. The choir, with a repertoire of both sacred and secular numbers closed its season at the Baccalaureate Service.

Mr. Steele and the College and Community Symphony Orchestra work long hard hours before the concert.

Under the direction of Mr. Emmett Steele, the select Chapel Choir of sixty members functioned in various ways — from beautifying with music the weekly Chapel services to appearing with the College Concert in several performances during the year. The choir presented its religious works in the annual Christmas Concert with the Harmonettes, Concert Band, and Brass Choir.

The North Central College Community Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Mr. Steele in its first concert, featured Mr. Ned Gardner as piano soloist in Rubinstein's "Fourth Piano Concert." The second concert included two performances of Handel's "The Messiah" with the Fox Valley Choral Society in Batavia and St. Charles, Illinois churches. After the third appearance which featured the Symphony and the Fox Valley Choral Society in Brahms "Requiem" with Chicago soloists, the year closed with participation in the Fine Arts Festival.

Under Mr. Steele, the North Central College Concert Band, consisting of fifty chosen players, opened its season with an Assembly appearance. The band then went on to present concerts in Pfeiffer Hall, neighboring communities and the Fine Arts Festival of May.

In conjunction with the Concert Band is the lively and well-known Marching Band under the drum-majorship of Ed Virgil. With its performances, the band stole the show at the home football games including the Homecoming parade.

The second year of the ambitious student volunteered "Pep Band" provided music from Sousa to Dafia at basketball games, political programs, and the torch-light parade.

Campus Dramatics

The Theatre Guild, under Professor Donald Shanower's direction and Lou Erdmann, president, presented to the school and community one of its most demanding schedules and effective programs in some years. With new equipment and endless "wood-sawing" and rehearsing sessions ahead of them, the artists began the program of suave performances in Smith Hall with the children's play, "Little Red Riding Hood," produced in late November. Ibsen's psychological drama, "Hedda Gabler," produced in December, shared the spotlight with church performances of the religious play, "He Came Seeing," which was taken on tour through Wisconsin in February. In March, a laboratory bill of one-act plays, student-directed, preceded Ned Albert's melodrama, "East Lynne." For the Fine Arts Festival the immortal "Importance of Being Earnest" by Oscar Wilde, played in Pfeiffer Hall.

Delta Epsilon, the local chapter of the national dramatics honor fraternity, Alpha Psi Omega, is composed of students who have actively worked on and behind stage to attain the selective membership.

Juniors . . . . . The Class of 1958

As our class returned to campus this year, we had one thought in mind — earning money for our big campus events. Although our number had depleted, our spirit was still high and everyone worked hard.

Leading us were Brooks Heck, Karen Hubert, Carol Esterly, Jean Rada, Paul Leibau, and Jan Faulhaber, class officers.

We started the year with concessions at football games, work day, and concessions at the Artist Series. Big attractions were the appearance of George Shearing's quintet on campus and "Brigadoon," the musical.

The Junior-Senior Prom took up a lot of planning time as the goal for all of our money-making projects. In the spring of our sophomore year, committees started work on site, menu and orchestra, all details being kept as a surprise to the student body.

Now we are ready to step over the threshold of our senior year. We have enjoyed the fellowship of working together as a class, and realize that our efforts have been worthwhile.

With that familiar cheer, the athletic season opened with a young but spirited football squad, directed by "Uncle" Vail, and Cross Country, coached by Belding. The season proceeded with basketball, Burger; swimming, Giere; indoor track, Belding; and tennis, Dexheimer.

Spring approached and our last two sports came into the limelight: outdoor track, Belding; and baseball, Olson.

Our hats off to a full scheduled athletic department at North Central College!

Football

Homecoming marked another Cardinal defeat as Illinois Wesleyan trimmed NC 34-13. However, the Cardinals stayed with them the first half but the Titans burst loose in the second half.

North Central's best game was played against Carroll College at Waukesha, Wisconsin. We scored immediately and led most of the half. Then Carroll scored, picking up more touchdowns in the second half and went on to win this one 26-14.

Wheaton and North Central's battle for the little brass bell wasn't much of a battle as the undefeated Crusaders slaughtered the Cards 52-7.

Millikin's 135 pound Larry Kane tossed the Cardinals around in a whirl pool, but Millikin came out on the end of this one 42-14.

The big surprise of the season came when the Elmhurst Bluejays, unvictorious in 22 games over three years, beat NC in 30-degree weather at Elmhurst at 14-12.

The core of the team was made up of 28 freshmen, 3 seniors, 2 juniors, and 6 sophomores. The freshman crop this year was one of the finest in NC history. Quarterback Dave Evans outthrew them all for the passing leadership in the CCI, 36 completions. Henry Brown played 456 minutes out of a possible 480 either at end or fullback. Jack Nothacker, a Mooseheart boy, played right halfback for 439 minutes. Other boys that looked good on defensive maneuvers were Bob Heinrich, Frank Trossen, Dick Lambrecht and Maurice Sargent.

Looks like he has him down, but you can't take any chances.

Hit them again, harder.

On an end run puts Evans in the clear for a touchdown.

Annual Homecoming

Pack fourteen big activities into two short days — the 1956 Homecoming Whirl — and you're glad that "You Are Here." From the first crew of wood-gathering frosh to the last departing visitor, everyone had a tremendous time. Let's look back at Homecoming . . .

After a few laughs — Bill Gates, NC's football player way back when . . . bandaged Bud Kaatz commenting optimistically on the team's good condition — we thrilled over Jan Hazenfield's coronation as Homecoming Queen. Jan, a sophomore, had seniors Charlotte Barber and Mary Jo Feik and freshmen Lynda Means and Ruth Gauerke in her court.

The record-size bonfire provided enough heat to fire up the pep rally, followed by a skating party and a dance.

Saturday morning, we watched the pushball contest (frosh victory!) . . . and the alumni-women's soccer game . . . and stood on a corner for the parade, featuring Queen Jan on Old Main's tower.

Although the Cards lost the all-important Homecoming game with Illinois Wesleyan, our two touchdowns gave the frosh the right to shed their beanies! A hungry crowd filled up at the Smorgasbord . . . then relaxed either at the Centennial kick-off or the singspiration.

A student-alumni cast in "Good Housekeeping," provided light dramatic entertainment for Saturday night, followed by the premiere showing of "The North Central Story," starring Bud Kaatz and Margaret Ann Bredemeier.

Sunday afternoon vespers brought Homecoming weekend to a quiet close . . . leaving us tired but already planning for next Homecoming.

Brown smashes into Millikin's line for another gain.

1956 Homecoming Queen, Jan Hazenfield, being crowned by Dennis Wentz, Student Body President.

Lynda Means, Janis Hazenfield, Charlotte Schroeder, Ruth Gaureke, Mary Jo Feik.

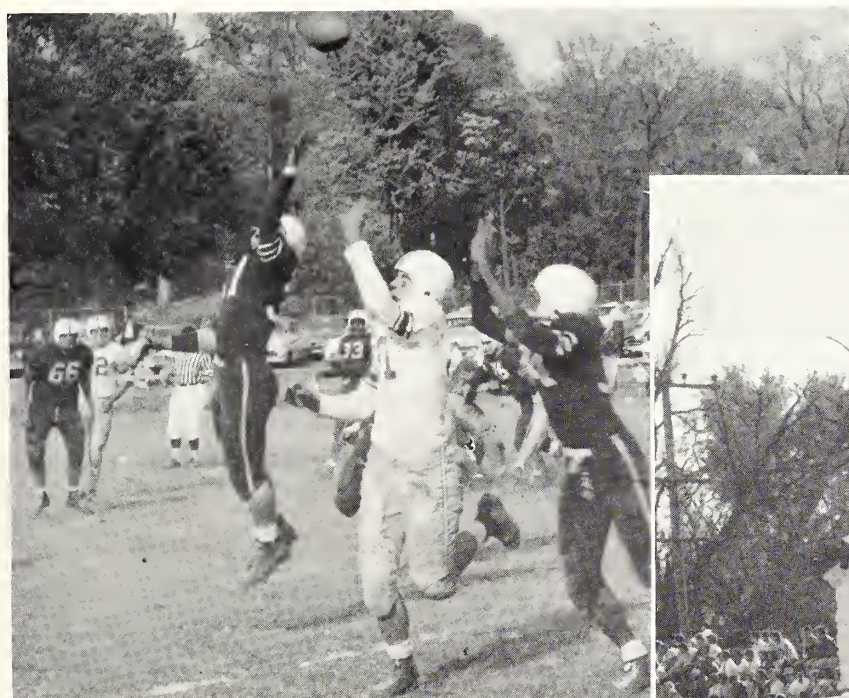

"Marshmallows anyone?" (Really, what else can you say?)

"But fellows, how will the train get through?"

A long pass is blocked by Arm-entrouit, once again putting down the opposition.

Pretty Queen, Jan Hazenfield, rides around the field to the strains of "Let Me Call You Sweetheart," at half-time during Saturday's game.

D. Shymkewich gets up there for a jump ball.

Basketball

The North Central basketball team didn't fare too well during the 1956-1957 season, against all kinds of competition and finished the season with a 3 and 18 won and lost record. In Conference play, North Central ended in the cellar with a 2-12 record.

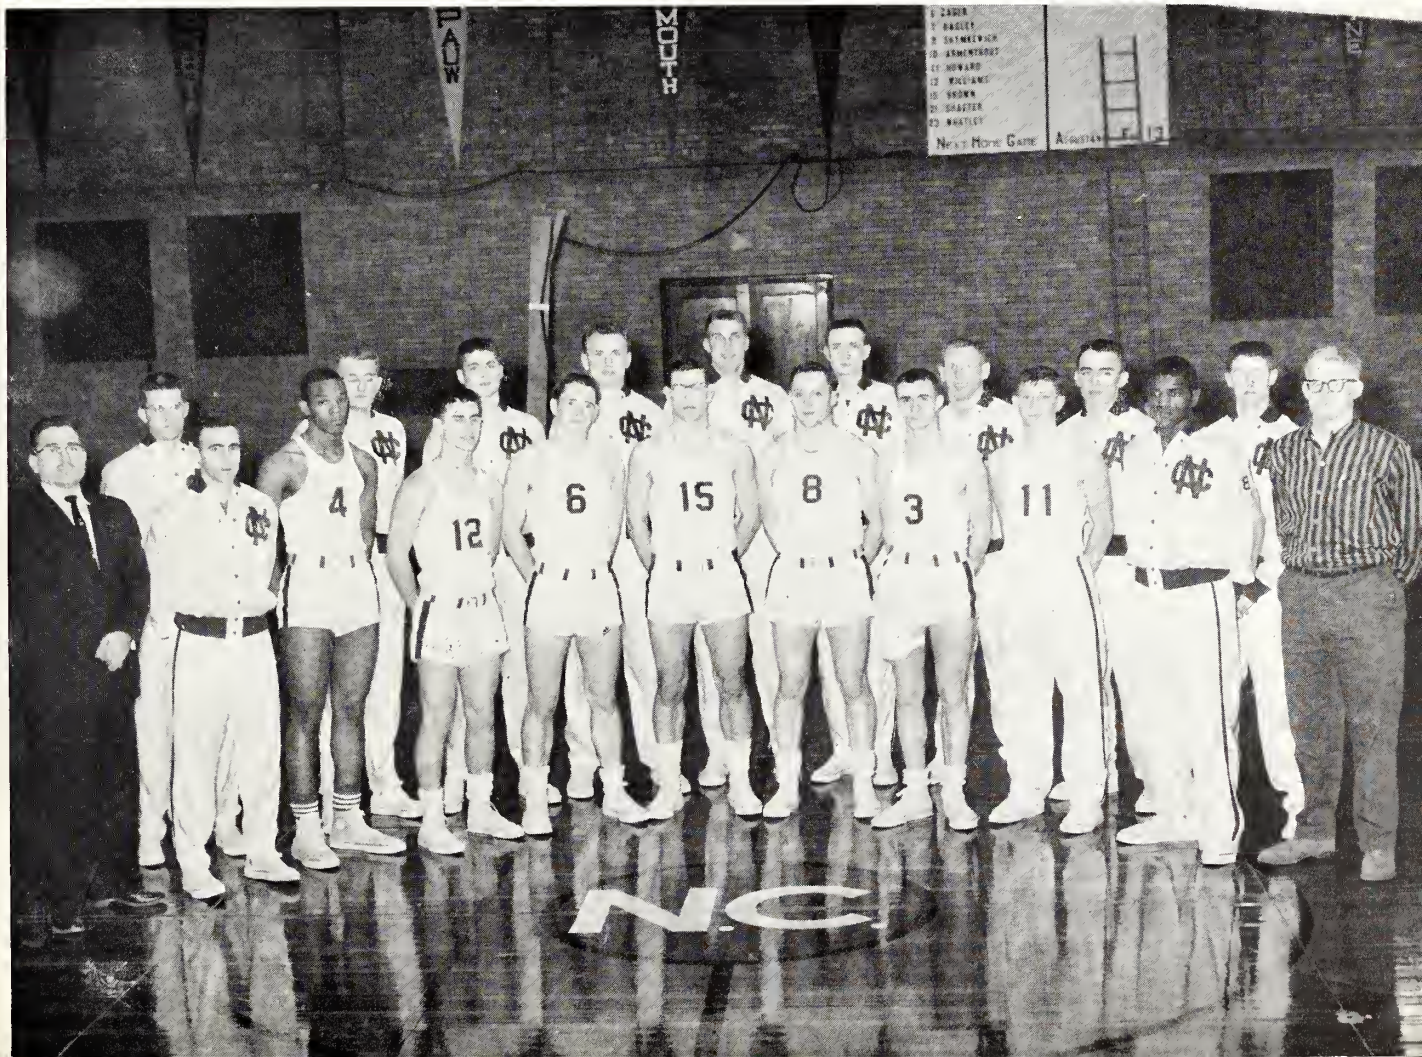

In spite of a poor won and lost record, several games were much closer than the scores indicate. Under the able coaching of Bud Berger the Cards fought the tougher teams right down to the wire, with Wheaton as an exception. They beat Monmouth, who held first place in the Midwest Conference, and in the next home game we beat Illinois Wesleyan in see-saw battle that saw the final score 73-71 on our side of the tally sheet. After close games with Elmhurst and highly touted Millikin, and other teams, North Central stopped Carroll on their floor 74-69.

The squad this year was hampered somewhat by the lack of experience as there were only three boys returning from last year's team. The rest of the team composed of mostly freshmen this year, showed great spirit and hustle and are looking forward to a successful season next year.

Junior Varsity Basketball

If the North Central "B" basketball team is any kind of measurement of things to come, the Varsity of the next few years should really be tops. The "B" team finished the season with an 8-4 won-lost record. Only two defeats by Wheaton, one by Van Dee and Thornton Junior College merred their record. The "B" team started the season with a win against Lake Forest, then losing to Van Dee. After three wins, they dropped two in a row to Thornton Junior College and Wheaton. Then they won the rest of them excepting the last to Wheaton.

Indoor Track . . . 1956

The North Central Indoor track team had a fairly successful season considering the competition they were up against. McCallister and Brickert were instrumental in holding down the dash honors. Steckel and Curtis gathered their share of points in the 440. The eight-lap relay team of Brickert, Ross, Stoffer and Steckel took several firsts. Ron Smith almost conquered the 13 foot pole vault with a 12-9 vault. Tom Drake high-jumped 6½ indoors. McCallister took second in high hurdles and first in low hurdles and won the broad jump with 22-5½ mark in the Midwest Invitational. Bachman, Lambrecht put the shot.

Seasons Results: North Central College 35—Wheaton 60; North Central College 78 2/3—Elmhurst 27 1/3—Knox 23; North Central College 32½—Loyola University 71½.

Swimming

NC's swimming team has again topped all our sports in won-lost ratios. At mid-season, North Central's Dolphins had won five dual meets, a trio meet, took the Senior AAU meet, and collected all but two "firsts" at the Knox Relays. The only two losses were to two of the nation's top amateur and college swim clubs.

North Central took last year's Midwest meet with Central Michigan's 36 points second to our 53, among ten competing schools. At Knox four out of NC's five first places broke records. Mizanin and Eck placed high in diving.

John Molitor took three firsts in the AAU meet, set records in the 400 yard, Individual Medley, and the 220 yard freestyle, and won the 440 freestyle. Jim Rank's 100 yard butterfly set an AAU record, and his 100 yard backstroke took first. Other team members supported these leaders with seconds or thirds in all events.

At Bowling Green, Ohio, the swimmers met their match, bringing home the small end of a close score. Then Loyola fell to the Dolphins, with NC taking eight firsts. Swimming against Augustana, the 400 medley relay team. (Wendling, Lambrecht, Rank, and J. Molitor) nearly broke a record at 4:12.2, while Lesemer, a freshman, took second in the 440 freestyle, and Rank broke one minute on his Butterfly leg of the medley relay.

Jim Rank takes off into his performance of the "butterfly."

The season's high point was NC's trip to South Bend, resulting in victory over Notre Dame's Swim Club. The score, 50-36, stayed close till the end, with NC setting six pool records. Molitor won the 440 and 220 in record time. Lavalie, a transfer, set two records too.

At Bloomington, Molitor accomplished his high goal, swimming the 440 in less than five minutes. "Sub" divers Lavalie and Wendling took first and third places respectively.

Elmhurst	15½
Wesleyan	12
Millikin	11½
Lake Forest	1

Two invitational meets were also entered: at the Elmhurst Relays and the Wabash Relays.

1956 Outdoor Track

The outdoor track season was a real success with North Central winning 4 meets and finishing second in 2 meets. Ron Reichert broke the conference outdoor pole vault record with a 12-4 vault. Steckel ran the 440 outdoors. McCallister was sidelined until the conference meet with a pulled muscle. Jim Searight developed nicely in the hurdles and placed in the conference meet with McCallister and Drake. Jon Wordleman did the sprints outdoors and won several meets with a :10.1 time. Ross and Brickert ran the 220. Lambrecht and Wendling threw the javelin. Dick Branz and Jerry Goehring ran the distances outdoors.

G. Pichotta shows excellent form in putting the shot.

The thinclads get set for a good race, as they stand alert for the signal.

Up and over with the greatest of ease goes our graceful, coordinated N.C.C. pole vaulter.

Tennis

The Men's Varsity Tennis team finished their 1956 season by losing 12 meets and winning one. The team defeated Lake Forest College. Bruce Berg played the number one position with Paul Sutton second and John Hofert third. Other team members were Willard Gabel, Dave McKay, Don Henke, and Dave Hochstettler.

The Women's Tennis Team had a very good season, winning all of their meets except one. Last year was the first time that they defeated Wheaton in several years. The team travelled to Millikin for the Invitational Tournament where Donna Easterday and Joyce Kienzle took third place in the doubles.

College Day

"There's a college in your future, and a future in your College" . . . 1956 College Day included May Fete on the future North Central . . . Maypole Dance . . . Kathy Gates' coronation, froshmen's takeoff on the Fete . . . Phil Dannley crowned . . . stocking foot queen on a path of pj's . . . "Taming of the Shrew" . . . a great Future at a great College!

A large part of campus life is centered around the dorms. This is "home" to the majority of students for four years. Representative of dorm life on NC's campus is Seager Hall, men's dorm. Besides being the home away from home for many Freshman boys, the beautiful lounge in Seager is used for many meetings, teas, and parties throughout the year. Most NC-ites are quite familiar with the friendly hospitality shown them on such occasions by Mother Bates, the house mother.

Seager Hall

Dormitory Life

Continual hubbub — sometimes silence . . . cluttered rooms — straightened weekends . . . ringin' phones 'n buzzin' buzzers — 'casional cut-offs, now'n then . . . comfortable lounges — cozy "chats" . . . shower parties — make wits wet . . . "happy popcorn 'n pizza parties" — sorry, Ma'm, no scales allowed! "John" floods — exasperatin', ain't they . . . laundry blues — we're just clean kids . . . Dean's check — mellow males . . .

minute late — demerited dames . . . strict housemothers — yet good and kind . . . short dorn meetings — detailed discussions . . . "Open House" — well, look what I found . . . mail call — did you say male call? . . . serious moments — dorm devotions . . . roommates, pals 'n co-ed friendliness — Christian attitudes 'n high ideals . . . this is "Dorm Life."

T. V. provides rest and relaxation for the boys on a study break.

If the Kautman men prove to be as good students as they are housekeepers, they ought to make good husbands, girls.

. . . But on the other hand . . .

It feels great to have a nice comfortable dorm to come back to after classes doesn't it?

Hi-Fi sets, rook games, bull sessions where the issues of the day are discussed (you know, girls and . . . girls) and sometimes study is even included among characteristics of the boys' dorm.

T. V. and radios can be seen and heard at almost anytime. The old piano lends itself to some wonderful singing of hymns, choruses and popular songs. Mom Bates helps and watches over her flock. Devotions are held in the lounge every Wednesday night, with fellows in the dorm acting as leaders.

Boys dorm is "The Life!"

Kaufman

As the sun sneaks up over the horizon, the shuffle of feet in the hall, showers running, fellows waiting in line to shave, leads us to believe that this can only be the boys' dorm.

Kroehler South

Girls' dorm life, a new experience influencing habits and attitudes, includes both privileges and deprivations . . . the fun of room decoration . . . changing your telephone habits to five-minute conversations . . . the cackling girls next door . . . "Man on second" and no place to hide! . . . and you learn to live with it all.

Dorm life is fun . . . pizza parties . . . popcorn sessions . . . "Beauty clinics . . . wet-mop crew swinging into action when the plumbing goes kaput . . . the crowd's hang-out room . . . the dimly lit atmosphere as the horror-story teller makes spines tingle."

Jim Erdman lends a hand as Margaret Brede-mier struggles against Naperville's wintry blasts.

Kroehler North proves to be a busy place as students start off for 1:00 classes.

Kroehler North

There are beautiful aspects of dorm life . . . heart to heart talks with other girls . . . devotions . . . singspirations . . . and the thrills of dorm life provide sentimental memories . . . "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" by serenading fellow . . . dressing for the Prom . . . or just being happy when your roommate comes inpinned.

Dorm life is a new way of living packed with fun as well as thrills and memories.

The "Ipana smiles" below belong to Donna Bassett, Judy Speck, and Jan Faulhaber, three junior women who just might be getting ready for their dates.

Peggy Shelton has work to do! At least it looks that way. N. C. students who want to study are never disappointed.

Three fellows who live in private homes exchange pictures of interest.

"Wherein doth sit the dread and fear of kings. . . . After a struggle of three years, against the torrents of tests and assignments, the tide of extra-curricular activities, one becomes a senior. Seniors always seem to be privileged people, and here at NC, they have a special privilege.

A circular cement bench, surrounded by evergreens, is known on campus as "Senior Circle." It's a quiet, inviting spot on campus, but beware! It's sacred ground, and only for seniors. Any underclassmen who are found sneaking a "seat" will quickly be awarded with a trip to the pond!

Senior Circle

Seniors . . . . The Class of 1957

"Mighty Like a Rose" was the freshman class of 1957: the excitement of orientation . . . trials and tribulations of Woe Week were taken in good stride by these spirited freshmen. Homecoming, Big-I'il Sis and Brother Banquets, athletic events, the first Christmas season on campus, College Day, and exams left the biggest impressions on these kids . . . exams leaving the deepest impression!

The run between second and third base was safe and full of thrills . . . Career Conference, the arrival of new classmates . . . the departure of old ones . . . their junior-senior prom, "Oriental Holiday," superbly directed by Barb Schroeder and Cal Moely . . . "Finian's Rainbow" directed by Ben Reed.

The fall of 1956 arrived and two short semesters remained . . . graduation day loomed ahead! Many happenings that only the seniors can review took place. Although the quantity of the class may have decreased, the quality has increased and will continue to do so even after the graduates have left the cherished halls of North Central. "Goodbye, Good luck, God Bless you."

The bulletin board is the campus, all around advertising spot.

A good discussion and a cup of coffee are two things quite common around the union.

Current events, sports, and the comics are interesting to read — when the students have a few spare moments.

"Got a dime, let's have some music." Between classes and after school, music keeps the Union jumping.

N.C.'s bookstore has everything from piggy banks to dictionaries, and the students make good use of it. This looks like a slack day, tho. Between semesters you can't turn around.

A steady stream of business takes place beneath the clock in Old Main. Muriel Schroeder and Ron Shimp are busy taking orders for Homecoming Mums.

The pond looks picturesque and quiet now, but not so next september. Freshmen beware!

The victory bell's another N.C. tradition that means a lot. The bell tolls the news of an N.C.C. athletic victory.

Acknowledgments

The Spectrum is the product of the efforts of many. In putting together a yearbook there are small as well as big responsibilities. We cannot mention the names of all those who helped; but, we would like to thank each and everyone who did any job whether it be making telephone calls or working long hours cropping pictures.

There are some who deserve special recognition for what you might call "service beyond the call of duty." Our staff editors did a superb job — Carol Esterly and Curt Johnson on the literary staff, Ilsa Zillmar and John Wendling on the engraving staff, Joan Kerr and Evelyn Pucci on identification, Kay Crabtree on typing and Dave Bachman on sports. Rodney Wagner, Mike Kantos, and John Schroeder came through in fine form with our pictures. We have appreciated also the fine work of our comptroller, Dave Farley.

A load of thanks goes also to Helen Klatt, Linda Means, Charolette Wetherton, Lucille Sprecher, and Beverly Schroeder.

Last but not least we thank Bill O'Connor, the Jahn & Ollier representative, who's constant aid and interest made it possible for us to put out the 1957 Spectrum.

Thank You,
Ruth Unger & Jean Rada
Co-Editors of the 1957 Spectrum

We wind up our pictorial story with a picture winding up the school year . . . . .

“Jahn & Ollier Again”

A familiar and reassuring slogan

FAMILIAR...because it has appeared in thousands of the country's finest yearbooks for the past half century.

REASSURING...because those years of specialized experience bring complete service, outstanding quality and dependable delivery to the yearbook staffs, with whom we work.
